Dear Mr. Editor:

A copy of your paper of August 6, 1965, has just come to hand. I find it very interesting and consider it an outstanding issue. I was particularly interested in the Historical Guide to Prince Edward County, and I congratulate you on such complete coverage of the subject.

There is, however, one item to which I take exception. I refer to No. 22---Owen Richards. I do this as it is a well-known fact that once a statement has appeared in print it is taken as the truth. This item informs us that "Col. Owen Richards, the early settler in Prince Edward County was a tax collector for the British, and as such he was tarred and feathered in Boston prior to the American Revolution.

This is definitely wishful thinking, as a study of documentary information will reveal, as follows:

1. Owen Richards, the Customs Officer in Boston, according to his Loyalist petition, was born in Wales and emigrated to America in 1774 (or was it 1754?). He bought a house in Boston in 1759, and was appointed Customs Officer and Tide writer in 1769. It is stated that he was tarred and feathered in 1770, and returned to England in 1777, where he was living in February, 1778, when he appeared before the Commission in London. He also stated that he was married before 1777, and that his wife died shortly after that year, leaving a child.

Now, compare the above with our knowledge of Col. Owen Richards of Fredericksburg Township and of Prince Edward County.

2. Col. Owen Richards, son of John and Elsie Richards, was born in the neighborhood of Fort Hunter, on the Mohawk River in New York State. Records show that he died in 1843, aged about 34 years, having been born about 1762. The U. E. List calls him a boy during the Revolution, and states that he was discharged in 1784 as a sergeant in the second battalion R. R. N. Y., without having had military service. However, documentary records reveal that, as a Volunteer, he accompanied his father, Lieut. John Richards of the Indian Department, on Major Ross' raid along the Mohawk River in October, 1757. This Owen, as a bachelor, married Diana Spencer in 1739, and his several children were born between 1741 and 1745, shortly after which his wife died in childbirth. This Owen served as an officer in the first Prince George County militia, eventually becoming its Colonel.

Considering the data on these two men, we can be certain that Owen Richards of Upper Canada did not live a decade before he was born. It is extremely unlikely that he was appointed Customs Officer at the age of six years, or that he was termed and stationed at 2 years of age. There is no evidence to imagine that he ever visited England. Indeed, while Owen, the Customs Officer, was giving evidence in February, 1744, our Owen was on duty with his regiment at Oswego, New York.

I trust that this criticism does not minimize your efforts on behalf of the Boy of Quinte Creek.

DEAR DR. BURLEIGH:

I READ WITH GREAT INTEREST YOUR ARTICLE IN THE ^{//}DICTIONARY OF CANADIAN BIOGRAPHY ^{//}ON GUILLAUME RICHARD DIT LAFLEUR WHO WAS BORN IN FRANCE IN 1641 IN THE PROVINCE OF SAINTONGES, FRANCE.

AS YOU CAN SEE BY MY ENCLOSED CHART, OUR MICHEL WAS BORN IN 1630 AND IN THE PROVINCE OF SAINTONGES ALSO. IN 1654 MICHEL WAS IN THE SERVICE OF THE EXPEDITION LeBORGNE AND GUILBEAU TO THE PORT ROYAL, ACADIA AREA. THIS EXPEDITION HAD ORIGINATED FROM LAROCHELLE, FRANCE. APPARENTLY MICHEL BECAME DISCHARGED AT PORT ROYAL, WHERE HE SETTLED AND MARRIED IN 1656 AND STAYED FOR THE REMAINDER OF HIS LIFE. OF COURSE HIS DESCENDANTS ON THE CONTINENT ARE VERY NUMEROUS TODAY.

AS YOU CAN SEE, THE POSSIBILITY EXISTS THAT MICHEL COULD HAVE BEEN GUILLAUME'S OLDER BROTHER. ALL WE KNOW ABOUT MICHEL COMES TO US FROM MSGR. LOUIS RICHARD, FIRST COUSIN OF MY GRANDFATHER, ALEX. MSGR. LOUIS WAS THE SUPERIOR AT THE SEMINARY AT TROIS RIVIERE DURING THE 1890S AND THE EARLY 1900S AND DURING THAT TIME HE RESEARCHED THE HISTORIES OF MANY ACADIAN FAMILIES IN THE TROIS RIVIERE AREA, AND OF COURSE, INCLUDING HIS OWN. APPARENTLY MSGR. KNEW NO MORE ABOUT MICHEL THAN WHAT I MENTIONED ABOVE.

WHEN I SAW YOUR ARTICLE ON GUILLAUME AND HIS PARENTS, JEAN RICHARD AND ANNE MEUSNIER, I COULD NOT HELP BUT SPECULATE ABOUT THE POSSIBILITIES. I AM WONDERING AT THIS TIME IF YOU WOULD HAVE ADDITIONAL INFORMATION THAT WOULD BE HELPFUL OR IF YOU COULD DIRECT ME TO WHERE I COULD OBTAIN ADDITIONAL INFORMATION ON THIS SUBJECT.

WHATEVER YOU CAN DO WILL BE GREATLY APPRECIATED. ARE ANY OF THE REFERENCE BOOKS MENTIONED AVAILABLE? I WOULD LIKE ACQUIRING MASSICOTTE'S OR MALCHELOSSE'S OR ANY OTHERS. DID GUILLAUME EVER HAVE A PORTRAIT MADE OF HIMSELF? I WILL EAGERLY AWAIT HEARING FROM YOU.

YOURS TRULY,

Francois Richard
FRANCOIS RICHARD

P.S. I AM ALSO ATTEMPTING TO ESTABLISH OUR RELATIONSHIP WITH GABRIEL RICHARD, THE PRIEST WHO SERVED SO WELL AND SO LONG AT DETROIT, MICHIGAN. GABRIEL'S GREATGRANDFATHER, PIERRE, BORN ABOUT 1640 IN SAINTONGES COULD HAVE BEEN A BROTHER OF GUILLAUME.

ALSO I AM RESEARCHING FATHER ANDRE RICHARD BORN IN FRANCE IN 1600 AND CAME TO CANADA IN 1634 AS A JESUIT MISSIONARY AND WHO SERVED FOR ALMOST FIFTY YEARS. SO FAR AS I KNOW, HE WAS THE FIRST RICHARD ON THE CONTINENT, BEATING OUR MICHEL BY SOME TWENTY YEARS. THIS ANDRE COULD HAVE BEEN A BROTHER OF JEAN, THUS AN UNCLE OF GUILLAUME.

Dear Mr. Richard:

I must apologize for my delay in replying to your very interesting letter. I also apologize for not being of any assistance to you in your search into the antecedents of your family.

My interest in the family of Guillaume Richard dit Laflour was purely historical, involving his activities at Fort Frontenac and at Montreal, and also that of his grandson, Jean Richard, during the Revolutionary War. An additional interest is that descendants of this family are my neighbors.

Any search for relationships in France would involve review of parish registers in that country. This would be a difficult matter. There is, however, a possible source. I have been given to understand that photo copies of all the Parish Registers in France was undertaken several years ago by the Institut Genealogique Drouin. Their address was last known to me as 4184 Ave St.-Denis, Montreal 1^{er}, P. Q., Canada. I never applied to them, as I understood that costs were prohibitive. It is possible that you already know of this Institut.

I was very interested Les Anciens, by Abbe Mulaire, and his list of Le Clerge Canadien-Francais. I say this, as one of my great great grandmothers, an Irish girl, was living in Quebec City in 1775-24. She had a brother, Michael Ryan, who was a priest, presumably in Quebec. It is also possible that his name appears in this clerical list. If you have this book available, would please look in it for priests by name of Ryan? Any help on this point would be appreciated.

I am sorry that I cannot be of more help.

Yours sincerely,

H. C. Burleigh.

GUILLAUME RICHARD DIT LAFLEUR

TUE DANS UN COMBAT

CONTRE LES IROQUOIS

SON MONUMENT

A LA POINTE-AUX-TREMBLES

Votre ancêtre, Guillaume Richard dit Lafleur, fut tué dans un combat contre les Iroquois, le 2 juillet 1690; à l'endroit du combat, à la Pointe-aux-Trembles, un monument lui a été élevé.

Le touriste qui se promène sur la pointe orientale de l'île de Montréal, à l'endroit où le Boulevard Gouin oblique vers le sud pour aller joindre la rue Notre-Dame, remarque entre la route qu'il suit et les eaux de la rivière des Prairies, sur les bords d'une coulée profonde qui s'appelait il y a deux siècles et demi et s'appelle encore "la coulée Grou", un monument élevé par la Commission des Sites et Monuments Historiques du Canada".

Si il vous arrive de passer à cet endroit, nous vous suggérons de faire comme nous avons fait, descendre de voiture et lire sur la façade de ce monument une des pages les plus émouvantes de l'Histoire du Canada. Cette lecture sera encore plus intéressante pour vous que pour le voyageur ordinaire, puisque vous y verrez l'histoire de l'un de vos ancêtres et que vous pourrez vous dire que vous foulez la terre qu'il a conservée aux générations futures par le sacrifice de sa vie.

L'inscription que vous verrez sur la façade de ce monument se lit comme suit: "Le 2 juillet 1690, M. de Colombet à la tête de 25 hommes attaqua 100 Iroquois près d'ici; il fut tué avec 9 de ses soldats, ainsi que 30 ennemis. Jean Grou, propriétaire de cette ferme et trois de ses compagnons furent capturés par les sauvages et brûlés vifs. Joseph Lajeunesse, descendant de Grou, a fait don du terrain et des pierres de ce monument".

Cette inscription, en son style concis, est bien éloquente et dispense de tout commentaire.

Les registres de la Pointe-aux-Trembles de Montréal, à la date du 2 novembre 1694, complètent l'histoire de cette bataille. Reproduisons-les textuellement:

"Le 2 juillet 1690, les Iroquois tuèrent au bout de l'Ile, près de la Coulée de Jean Grou, le Sr Colombe, lieutenant réformé, Joseph de Montenon Sr de la Rue que les ennemis brûlèrent le jour même derrière le fort de LaChenaye, Guillaume Richar dit Lafleur, notre lieutenant de milice, Jean Jalot, notre chirurgien... Jean Delpué dit parisot, Joseph carrier dit Larose, Jean Raynau dit Planchar brûlé aux Oneiouts avec Jean Grou, paschange et le bohème en présence du père Millet, Jean Baudoin, fils, pierre Masta, et un employé du grand Bauchant nommé... Pierre Payet dit St-amour a été pris dans l'attaque et amené prisonnier le 2 juillet 1690, il a été donné aux Oneiouts qui lui ont donné la vie ainsi que nous a mandé le père Millet du mois de février 1691 d'oneiout ou il est aussi et ou on lui a donné la vie."

"Le dit St-Amour est revenu au fort en 1693."

"Comme on craignait beaucoup les Iroquois, on enterra, à la hâte, les corps de ceux qui avaient été ainsi tués, à l'endroit même où le massacre avait eu lieu; ce ne fut que le 2 novembre 1694 que l'on transporta leurs ossements au cimetière, où ils furent inhumés en présence de presque tous les paroissiens."

Lorsque vous lirez sur le monument que "M. de Colombet, à la tête de 25 hommes, attaqua 100 Iroquois près d'ici; il fut tué avec 9 de ses soldats...", il faudra comprendre que votre ancêtre, Guillaume Richard dit Lafleur, était du nombre des soldats tués et que vous foulez le sol qu'il a arrosé de son sang.

Mr. Joseph C. Dora,
P. O. Box 495,
Oakwood, Ill. 61858.

Dear Mr. Dora:

I was so pleased to hear from you, particularly when you dealt with the Richard Family. I was sorry that you had not commented on my effort re the origin of the Richard Family. However, no news is often good news.

I am always overjoyed to receive something which adds to the knowledge of a most interesting family. Your item re the ownership of land at Saskaskia by Richard was new, indeed. But to me it proved his demise in the period between sale in 1731 and 1742, when his widow dealt with the subject. Moreover, it gave me the idea that Richards' death in that period may well have occurred in a conflict with the natives, perhaps on the same day that his son, Jean, was wounded and captured by the enemy. All of which was followed by his escape three years later. What is your thinking on that point?

I wish to also thank you for the item dealing with the death of Guillaume Richard in 1690. It adds much to what I had obtained from Pete Tanquay's account, both of which relate a sad story.

As to your query, I cannot, at this time, help you. Some twenty years ago I was supplied with copies of several marriages, baptisms, and burials performed by the Priest at Fort Frontenac about 1750-60. I was then living in Bath, Ontario. Three years ago, I retired and moved to Kingston. In Bath I had all sorts of room for my interest in books and documents. But, on removal to Kingston, I had far less room. So now, much of my material is stored in boxes; some is in the basement of my son's home, as well as in the attic of a daughter's home. I shall keep searching, and if I ever come across them, I will send you a copy. But, if it is so vital, I suggest that you apply to the relatives in Quebec, or to the Church in Montreal for a copy. At that time, there was a priest at Fort Frontenac. Any ceremony performed by him was recorded in the archives at Montreal.

I am very sorry that I cannot return the call on you. However, I am willing to share in any cost to you for search. If I can help, let me know.

Dear Sir:

I read your letter to the editor in The Intelligencer regarding the booklet on the family history of the RICHARD family of Amherst Island.

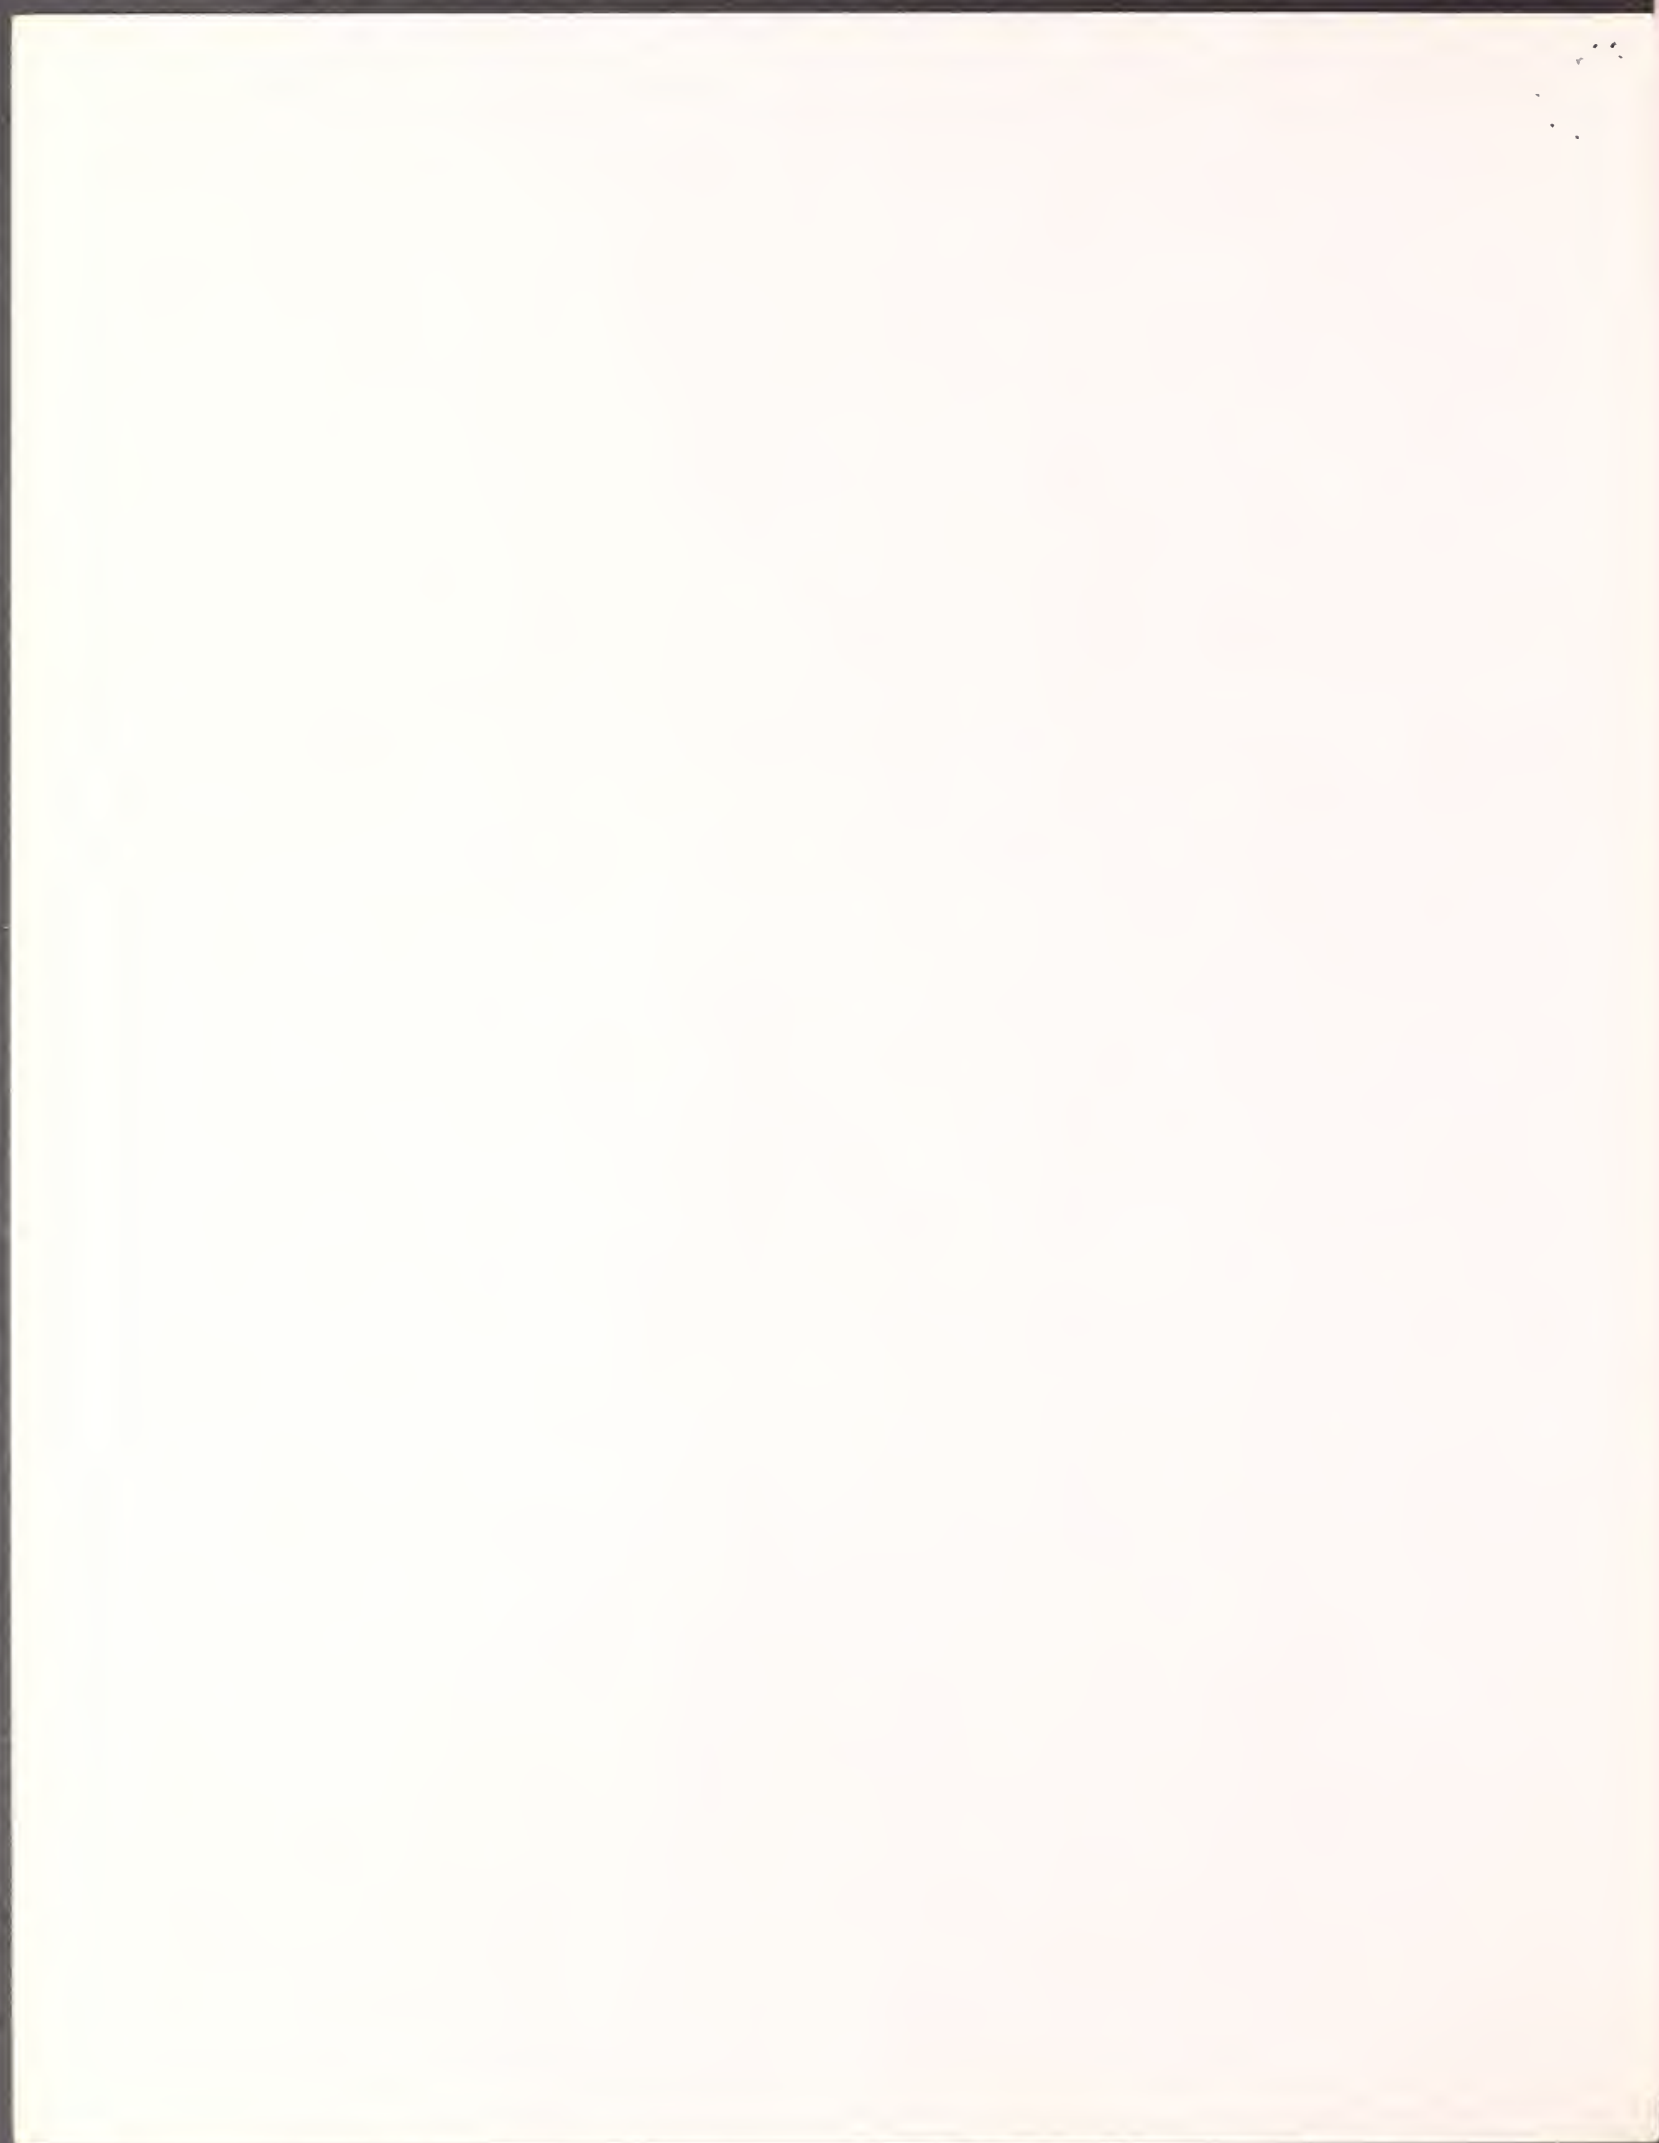

This is of interest to me as my maiden name was Cuthill, daughter of J.P. Cuthill and my great-grandmother on my mother's side was a Dennee. I grew up in South Fredericksburgh Township and now live on a dairy farm in a community called Melrose near Belleville. I might add that my husband Malcolm Lazier is of Huguenot descent.

I have enclosed a cheque for $3.75, the cost of the booklet plus the postage which you indicated in your letter.

Thank you for making this history available and I am anxious to receive a copy.

Yours truly,

Dear Mr. Burleigh,

I am sorry that I seem to be holding up your publication, I really can contribute nothing to it since I have little actual information on the Richard family. The Vincennes church records indicate that Agnes Richard who married J.B. Vaudry was a daughter of J.B. Richard and Marianne You but I do not have positive proof that she is the same Agnes Richard who was married to Francois Godere. Some day I hope to prove this. Further study of the Vincennes records leads me to believe that a Marie Joseph Richard married to Joseph Pelletier dit Antaya may have been another daughter of Jean Bte Richard.

I came across a reference to a Clar^Kson's Diary, entry Dec. 23, 1766. 'persons recommended' by Mons. Gadbert as some to employ in the Indian trade. Richard, the Elder. Antoine la Fromboise au Post Nicole'. (post Nicole was another name for Vincennes)

The only thing I know about a history of the Richard's family is that alongside the entry for William Richard in Drouin's Dictionaire is the notation 'voir hist. RICHARD CARIGNAN'. I do not know where a copy of this could be obtained but I suspect you would have to go to a large genealogical library at Quebec or Montreal. Except for using Tanguay and Drouin I have never tried to research Canadian records, one reason being that I do not now know French. This summer perhaps I will check on what Canadian records are available thru the Mormon library or the Fort Wayne, Ind. library. The Richard history might have information on Agnes Richard and her husband.

Thank you for the copy of the information on William Richard from your book. I am interested in any material on William Richard or his son.

Sincerely,

Joseph C Dora

Dear Mr. Burleigh:

I received the two Richard baskets - with your note enclosed.

I was interested when I saw the article in the Intelligencer about the Richards family, since I had was joining the N.E.L. Association I had fully expected to do so through the Richards, but you wrote and told me they were not N.E.L.'s and consequently I joined through the Mordons.

My great grandfather was Owen
Richards, my grandmother Catherine Richards and her brother John Richards, whose home was where Dr. Pugh
later lived. My father was Dr. Moly Currie of Preston.

I knew from my grandmother
about the escape from the Indians and the Indian girl. If I remember correctly she said her father Owen Richards originally received his grant of land near London, Ontario, but when there was an outbreak of Typhoid moved his family to Prince Edward. The Richards' home still stands on the road between Bloomfield and Pictou. The Spence, whom I knew well related, lived a short distance toward Pictou:—

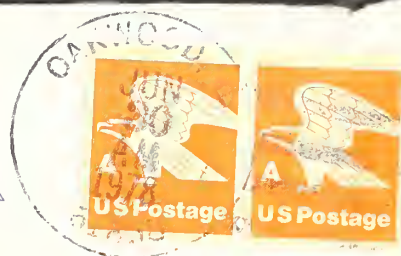

If interested, I have a picture of the Richards' home, inscribed by my grandmother "The old house at home where my forefathers' dwell." The house fell into disrepair but now some-what renovated, the Richards no longer there.

Thank you for the booklet. I wanted one for my sister Madeline, as well, whom I have just been visiting in Albany, where I attended an historical meeting. They are struggling to save Pine Bush, steeped in history, where there remains the foundation of an old tavern on a narrow, rutted dirt road, still known as the "King's Highway".

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Burleigh:

I am sending some information on Richard. Mrs. Stuart pointed out that the notation in Drouin 'vor hist Richard' referred to the articles in Book 3. I am enclosing the article on Richard. Also sending a land record which I found in the Illinois State Archives. Kaskaskia was south of St. Louis on the Illinois side of the Mississippi. There was another trader Jean Bte Richard dit Parisian living in Illinois about this time who had some boys and at least one of his sons later settled at Vincennes.

Have a favor to ask. Are the early church records of Fort Frontenac available in Kingston? The Supplement to Tanguay states that Joseph Levron married Marie Joseph Custeau at Fort Frontenac 4 January 1747. He was living at Detroit in 1754. If the records are available could you check to see if there was an Elizabeth Barbe Levron baptised at Fort Frontenac between 1747 and 1753?

Sincerely,

Dear Dr. Burleigh,

It has been some months since I last heard from you, and since my last letter. I have, also, sent a postcard and wonder if you have received it? I hope your health is good.

This afternoon I have been studying your earlier letters in conjunction with some material I have researched myself. This with reference to John Colburne Richards. I have not, as yet, found and proof of John Richards progenitors; at least in the sense of documentary evidence. (I have today sent away for a death certificate from Toronto and hope this might give a clue.) However, from your letters and other evidence (my cousin, Rose Richards, states she believes she recalls her father, John C. Jr., speaking of "Benjamin Richards," as his grandfather) I believe that the probability of the line being as you suggested is extremely high. That was a complicated sentence, but, to resolve it, I think that the probability is 99% that John C. Richards' father was Benjamin Richards b. 1798, bro. of John C., b. 1790., & son of Owen Richards and Diana Spencer.

As to what to do? Well, two things. 1. Search the census records of Thurlow & Sidney Townships for 1851. 2. Can you please write to me concerning the genealogy of Benjamin Richards line. If you are willing I hereby commission you $15.00 to do these two things. Concerning point 2., I would appreciate a quick answer.

I note in one of your letters that you mention that the Richards family came from Wales to Canada, thence to the Colonial U.S., and then back to Canada. I have found a John Richards who was captured by Indians in Maine and taken to Canada. I wonder if that is the same as the John Richards whom was father of Owen?

I am still working on our new home, but not as hard. Things are shaping up well -- and all I need now is money. Our living room is still vacant of furniture, and I imagine it will be until next year. Our den, the pride of my life, is almost complete. Rifles and muskets adorn the wall, and we need some attractive lamps to suit the decor. I have even installed a built in television along with my homemade hi-fi.

Again, I hope this letter finds you in good health and spirits. Best regards.

Sincerely,

Jim Richard

Sir:

Thank you for answering my letter.

As to the Richard family, this is my husbands line and I do not know where they originate as yet. I do know my husband, his father (Chas. Wm.), and his grandfather (Albert), were all born in Chicago. I did run across a family in a Michigan census, that I saved thinking there may be a connection. In fact when I first read it, it almost sounded like his family, such a similarity in names.

If it is not too much trouble I would appreciate the story, for future use.

I am enclosing a Internal Reply Coupon for postage.

Thank you for your interest.

Dear Dr. Burleigh:

Some weeks ago, Rev. Duncan Fraser of Johnstown, N. Y., left with me the three enclosed papers on the Powell-Randolph families; John Richards and Charles McCarthy and asked if we would have any information to help you. I am very sorry, but a search of our material, shows nothing, other than what you have already found for these people.

I could find no Conner woman married to a Wemp of Wemple. There are several Conner records in the Dutch Reformed Church of Schenectady, but no mention of an Elsa or Alice. We do not have any records for the Oneida County section of the Mohawk Valley. Have you visited or corresponded with the Oneida County Historical Society, 306 Genesee Street, Utica 4, N. Y.?

In making this search I came across an Alworth will which mentions two Alice Conners. I am enclosing a copy of this along with a few Powell and McCarthy records which I came across. I imagine the McCarthys found in the Kinderhook, Columbia County church records are connected with the one listed in Canaan Town, Columbia County in the 1790 Census.

I wonder if the William Powell in Halfmoon in the 1790 Census could be the one who had children baptized in the Dutch Reformed Church of Schaghticoke, Rensselaer County? If so several of his children died as the first one was Sara, born Aug. 2, 1778, and three others after this date before 1787. This William Powell's wife was Altie Hagamon.

I am sorry we cannot be of help to you with any of these problems.

Sincerely yours,

Carol W. Bussing

My dear Mr Durling:

you are Only a genealogist - such as I - can realize the immense joy at receiving your solution to the ancestry of my man of mystery - John Richard.

I gladly accept all your conclusions and deductions. I some time ago became convinced from your letters that John was a Catholic - at least that his family was Catholic. I am not prejudiced - one of my beloved sons, ^{Claude} during the war, while a prisoner, joined the church - all I said when he told me, after the war, was this "Well, be a good Catholic!"
My main blood line was Catholic in England down to the time of the immigration in 1635, and they patiently endured the structure of the "Independent" Church in America

until the Church of England was well established. All of my sons were baptised - also all of my grandchildren except Claude & children - in the Church of England.

Mrs. Miller - (a nicol which is her name in writing books) would be grateful for a letter from you. She feels that her angle - identity & historical novel - is more important than mine - more genealogical.

I would like to write a book - or an article - about my 70 year detective search for the "French & Indian ancestry". It is equivalent to a 70 year detective story - I began my search when I was 8 years of age. But I find that genealogy bore my friends - they will read with reluctance the story of the ancestry of some one else - but don't know when our grandmother's maiden name. The Saturday Evening Post carries articles about the ancestry of negro prize fighters - or some cheap actor or actress - and my friends read such articles.

I have 10 bound volumes of my researches on every line of my ancestry - for my children - with letters - with war records -
But the only "man of mystery"
was our John Richard - as you have pointed that for me

All the rest of my ancestors are stable Anglo - Welsh -
with an occasional scotch -

You have given me a fascinating
French line, and an Indian maiden whom I picture sitting pensively
by a mountain stream

Thanks - as thanks again

Yours & in Love

Richardson:

I recall your review of John Richardson's anxiety as an still fluttering with excitement. Only a specialist can appreciate the enthusiasm and which a searcher — one who has searched for 40 years — finds the Canyon.
Drawn back as the mystery discloses.

I hurry over to Mrs. Mead's house and the found your documents
for two or three hours.

I am satisfied to accept the story of John's capture, rescue, and escape, now that I find he had at least a stream of Indian blood.

When I was a boy such a deed —
Clergy would have disgraced our family.
Now, since I have met in the oil business so many Oklahoma business men who were past India, I find that such a discovery can be discussed with pride —

Especially it is a to be associated [Henry Langdon Budge — especially the girl — an delight with the story that parallels the Pocahontas story of old Virginia.

If you have any more items
of fact, I shall write a romantic story going back to the days of Maguacita de Velasco a Henry of Navarre, as coming down to date.

Do you know when and where John Richard died?

Do you have any proof that the original Richard was a Welshman? Richard is a strong Norman — or French — name, usually spelled Ricard — or something like that.

At the time of St Bartholomew's Massacre, Henry of Navarre — (later Henry IV of France) who was a Huguenot, renounced his faith
in return for the Catholic faith.
Perhaps his men did likewise ~~during the~~ ~~massacre~~ Henry of Navarre, then appointed to the French throne in 1572, was the only king in danger — hence

only he could have been this an hour -

I am gratified to you for your cooperation. If you have any threads of information,
I would be most extremely grateful to having them.

Yours truly,

Robert B. Rorfe

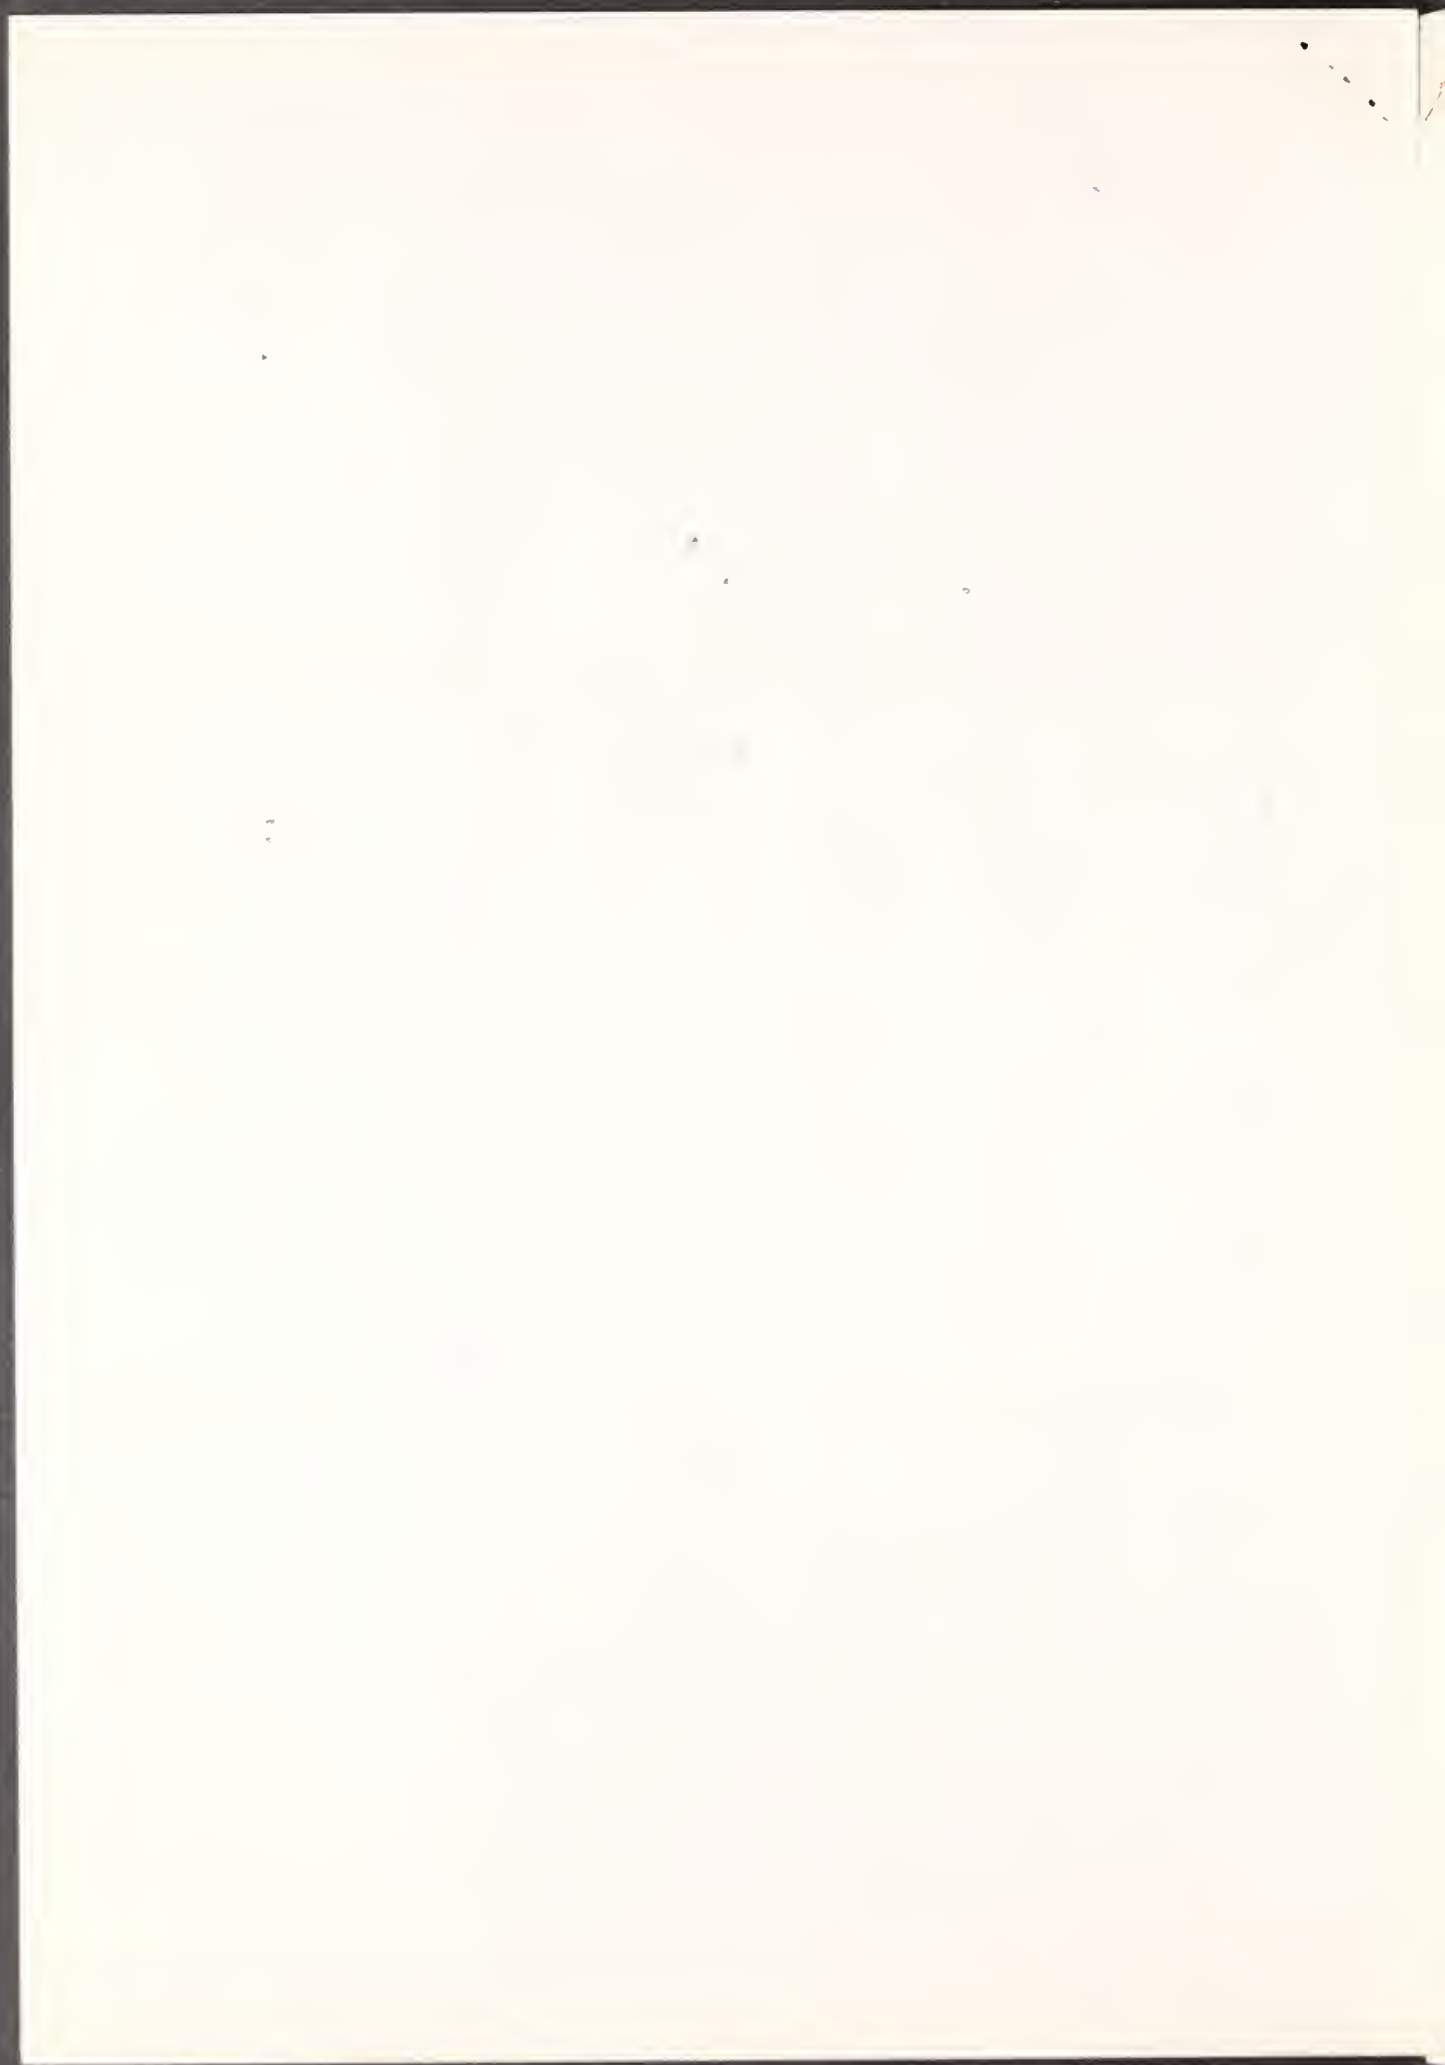

P.S.

The only thing we have heard - factually - is that Hazen
never married a "Margaret Rich", as we heard from Ottawa that she was the daughter of an
"John Rich", "Antiquarian". All else up to this time has been conjecture.

I ~~from~~ an intuition as I knew that there was a somewhat mysterious man
of mystery - what he did
during the war we do not know.

Dear Mr. Burleigh:

Your letter received. First I want to state that I did not realize that the dollars are not up to Canadian par as I indicated my check for $$4$ per dollar in my recent remittance — plus $$1$ —

I opened your letter eagerly hoping for a clarification of my problem of Indian blood. Then have been many "rumors" in my family about my ancestry in all my lines, and on careful patient research I have always found that the "rumors" had their roots in fact. Consequently I still hope to verify or abolish the rumor that John Richard was part Indian.

But if I fail in this, I

Can still console myself that I am Anglo-Irish - which is pretty good after all.

I am a retired lawyer, and my hobby is - or was - genealogy.
Mrs Necker is a writer, and she looks for a trailer romance to fill the book. We have many books - over 1000⁺ worth - but they are nearly all silent on dear old John.
We obtained from Ottawa photo-stats of all the Quebec petitions for compensation. All except John himself - I presume he died about 1755 or 1757.

I cannot afford a heavy research fee about John, now that I am retired. I think the penumbra charge is to buy $25⁰⁰ worth - when your Secretary gets that far,

He can call a hack. As I make my check for 75⁰⁰
and hope for the best.

It seems that John married a Irish girl whose name was Elsie O'Connor, and that she was the widow of a Worship.

Consequently my only hope for my pet Romance is that his mother was an Indian

Please ask your researcher to put in all the Romance that he can, for the sake of Mrs Nicol. She has the truest novel pretty well researched, but she lacks of our Indian blood has her a shock to her

If the Picket family was in the massacre of St Bartholomew in 1572, the immigrant might have been John's grandfather & if so he could have filled
my aching void.

I am deeply appreciative of your cooperation as of your patience with me & beg to remain Sincerely

Dear Dr. Purlough —

Now that I have caught my breath — after my 70 year search to solve the question of my French & Indian ancestry, I want to thank you for your spontaneous offer in pulling back the French & Indian curtain in my genealogical research.

I have written a letter to the 49 or 50 descendants of Spencer Langdon Blodget, my father, telling them the fascinating story —

It began with John Richard telling a story to Owen his son and John Church Richard his grandson;
followed by the letter of John Church
Richard to his grand children.

[Faint, illegible handwriting throughout the page]

Then came the digging out of French genealogies of the ~~origin~~ of the Richard Family by a loyal friend in Canada - Dr Burlingame.

I was told by Dr David Starr Jordan at Stanford University, that the Pakatan children were taught as could relate - their ancestors for 30 generations.

I cannot establish such a record in that manner, but at least I have told all my (15) grandchildren
the story the same as John Church Richard told it to his grandchildren, he repeating what his grand father, the John of mystery, had told him.

Thank you David - as thanks again. Only a genealogist can appreciate the unique pleasure that comes to an old man when a

Genealogical Will is typed, and a new ancestral line is desired.

I wish I could visit
Canada - but I am too old - Once I was in New Brunswick
on a Harbor Commission, at work over to Star of Halifax. But I have never been to Ontario -

I leave, as there is again -

Yours Sincerely

Richard Beaufort

August 23, 1960

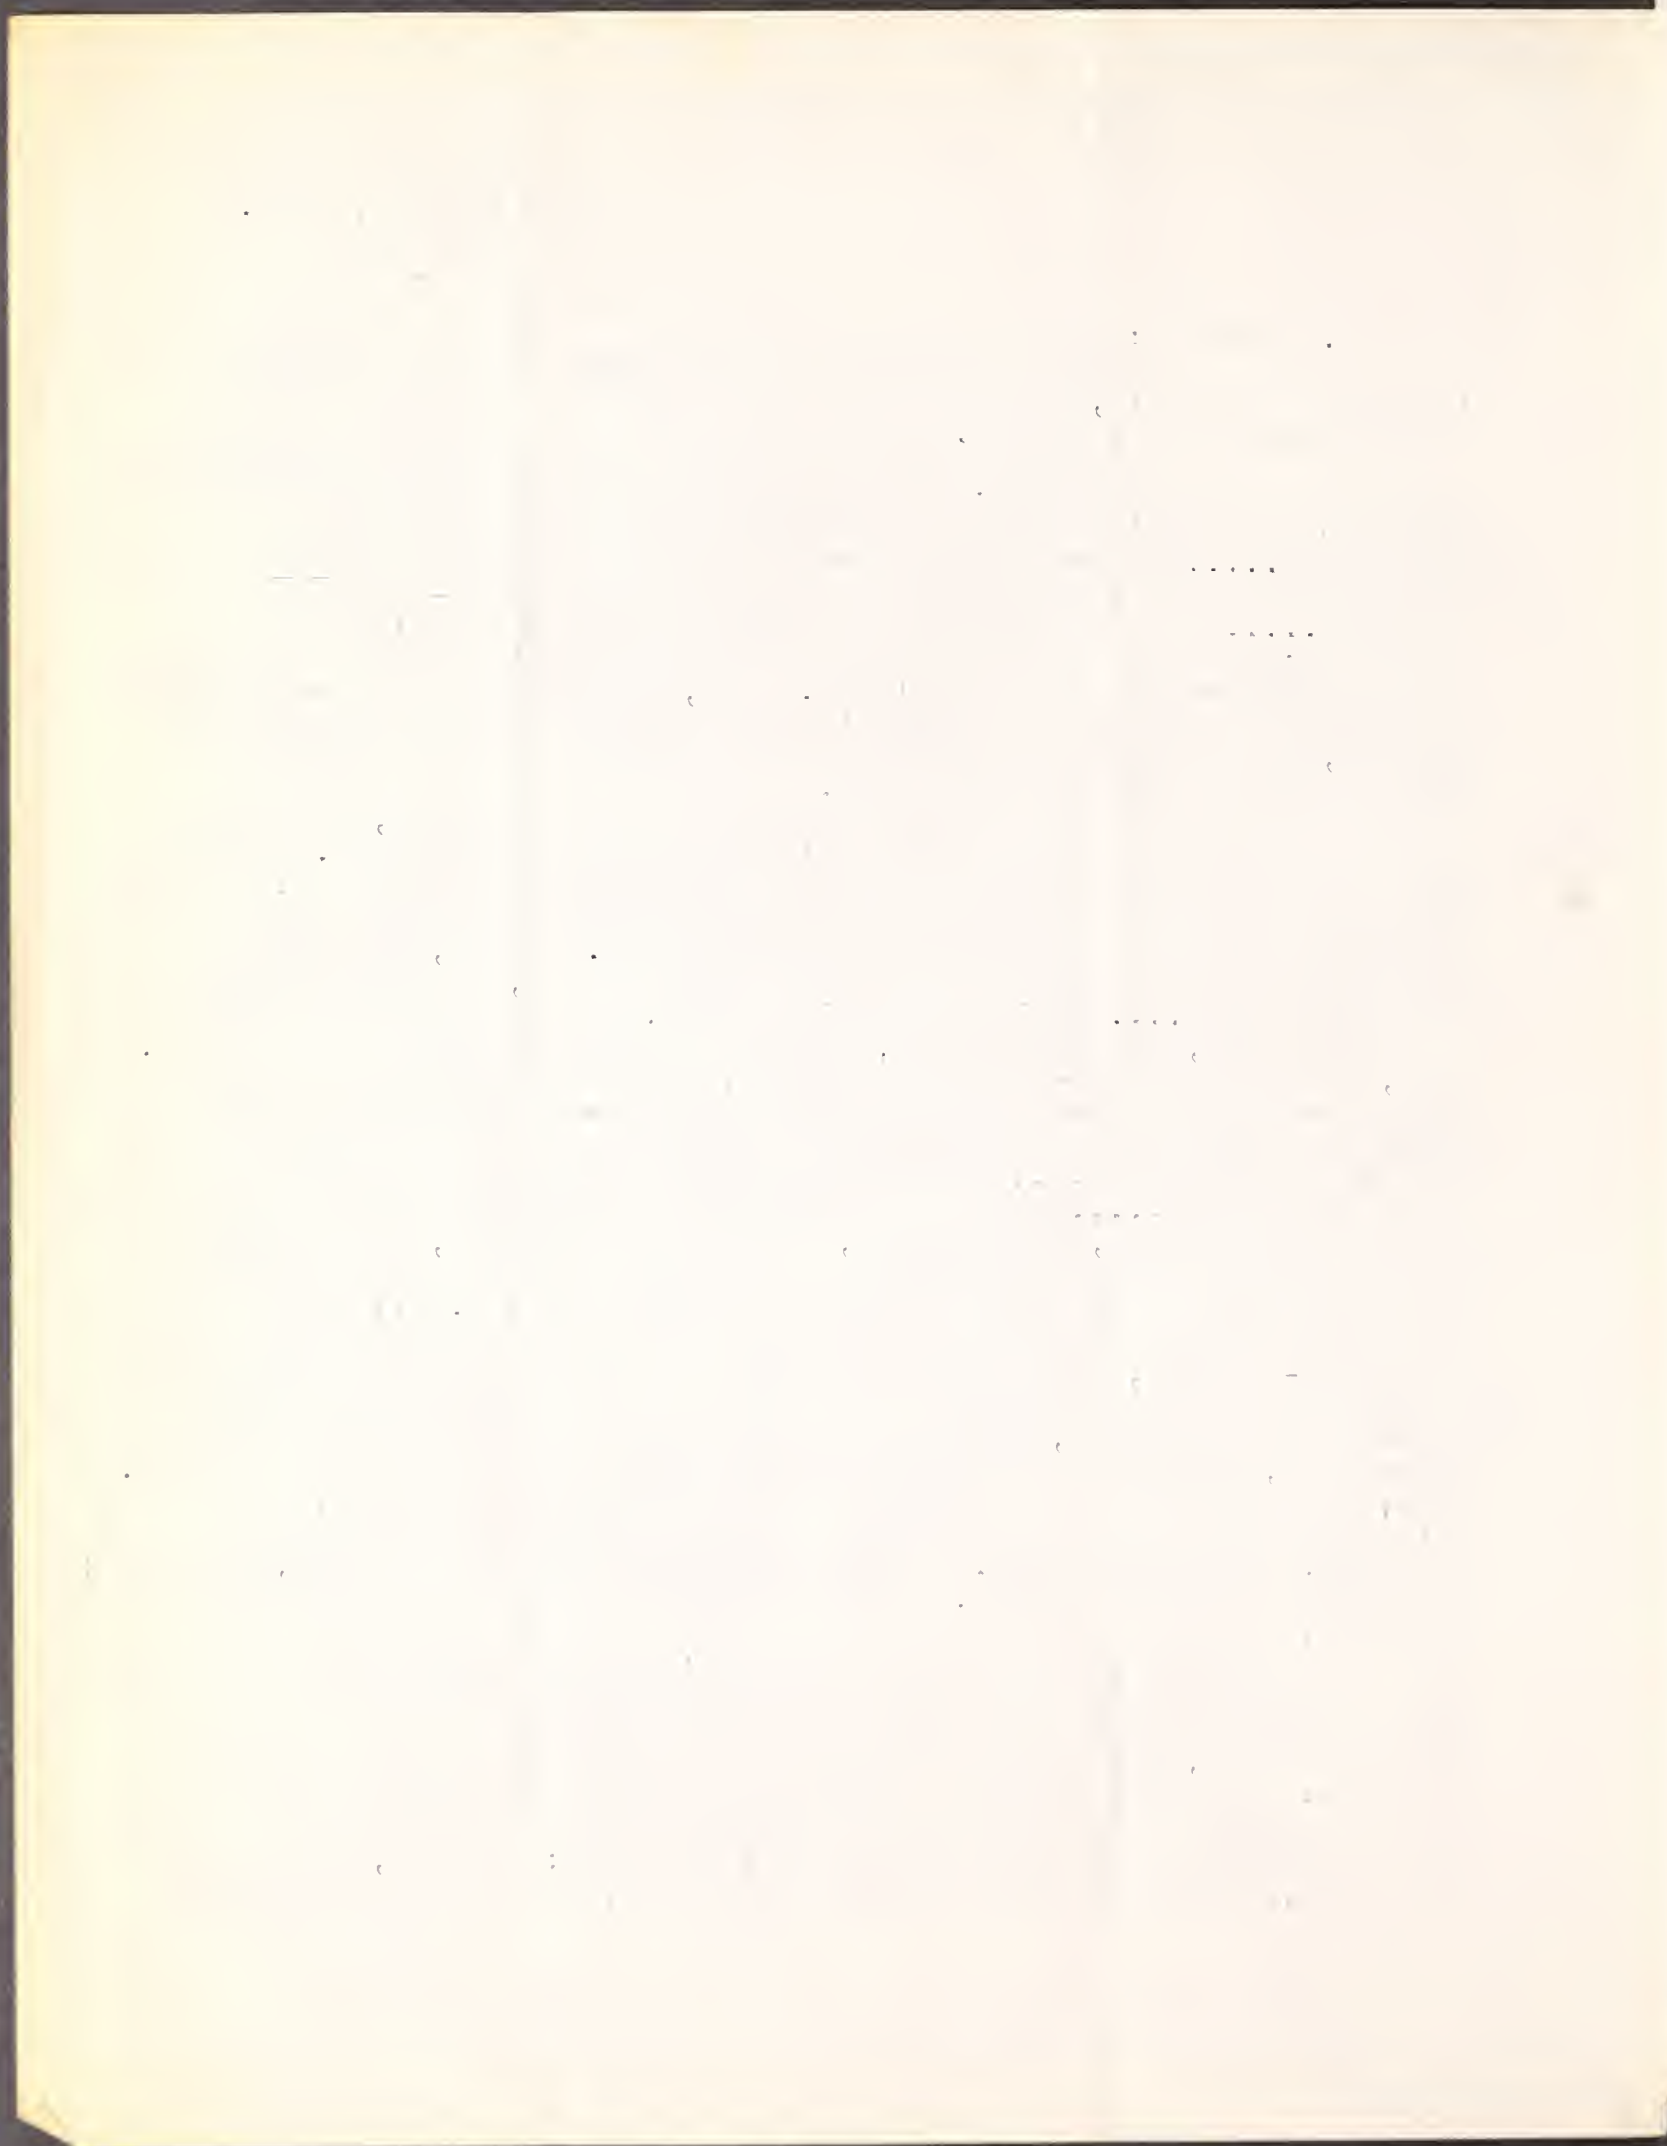

Dear Dr. Burleigh;

I thank you very much for your most understanding letter of August 16, and appreciate that you took the time from your heavy schedule to write me.

I believe you are entitled to apologies from this end of the correspondence; only about two weeks ago I was shown a hitherto unknown 'Codice' by Mr. Blodget which he had evidently overlooked.....this contained ~~corres~~pondance with you in 1937 wherein you had advanced much data concerning Spencer-Richards families.....I regret not having access to this material three years ago; it would have eliminated a great deal of research and also repetition on your part later. Also, I might not have so blithly undertaken the task of considering the Richards angle from a "man of mystery," or blundered along believing NO additional data could be obtained concerning John Richards.

I will not horrify you with the results, had I been willing to follow the romancing this was to have engendered. Luckily when I once submitted trial chapters to the MacMillan Company, I mentioned my hesitation to accept the premises around which the tentative character of 'our John' was builded. First, John was posited (to me) as a man married to a Mohawk woman, and she related to Joseph Brant....solely on the idea that, since 'John' had resided at Fort Hunter, Mohawk country, he was therefore married to a Mohawk. Also, with the distaste of Indian blood, it appeared out of character that a person such as Hazelton Spencer would ~~not~~ have intermarried since his career plainly proved him a career man who seemed very alert to advancing himself....Also I had placed Margaret as a girl of at least 16 in 1777.....you can imagine it was disconcerting to learn lately that she was, at that time, about 6 years of age, and hardly precocious enough to fire love in the manly breast of even as doughty a person as the elder son of Squire Benjamin Spencer.....Also I had been assured of an incident which I could find no documentation to support - namely, that Squire Spencer and four of his sons were badly beaten by the Allen mob after the Squire had attended the July 2/8th convention at Windsor, Vermont. I knew the Squire was at the JUNE convention, but the July convention only lists him as "probably" there. Also, since Ethan Allen was then in durance vile in New York, I was able to insist that Ethan took no personal appearance in such an incident, had it occurred. It would have been 'good theatre', of course; but it was rotten research. These are some of the problems which have beset me.

I absolutely agree with you; I cannot write even a passable and honest story concerning either of these men until I have had several weeks research in Ottawa and hunted the Haldimand papers and Roster records; not shall I attempt to continue until fate offers such a chance. To me it is incredible that so many people insist one produce saleable trash merely because there is a market for such when sufficient 'bed-hopping' promoted the plot; granted, the sex angle is there, but if it is to be the main theme, why introduce history?

This makes me incredibly Victorian and stuffy; however, a good book will last and be readable for many years; the trash has a quick sale and is then forgotten (one hopes) and the premise that the reading public demands only trash is a fallacy to which I refuse to adhere.

I am more than ever interested in the settlement of Upper Canada and more deeply dedicated to eventually producing a book which will have the approval of those wonderful people who settled in Quinte. Of course, I realize I could have not begun my story at a more difficult period or at a more difficult place -- and on more insufficient data of the two main characters. John Richards has been always in my mind as a man of amazing personality and of the fine background which you have shown me; a far more understandable person than Major Spencer, somehow. Which is natural, for having not the faintest clue of what they WERE, or how they looked and so on, Spencer was documented in no human manner at all (to me) while with 'John' I suppose my imagination could create a fine picture of expert hunter, woodsman, soldier etc, without the need of fitting him into the man of the world frame Spencer seemed to fit almost too opportunely. Margaret - there again I made a picture, doubtless entirely erroneous, of a girl with a great deal of ~~xxx~~ fire and beauty..hi ho.

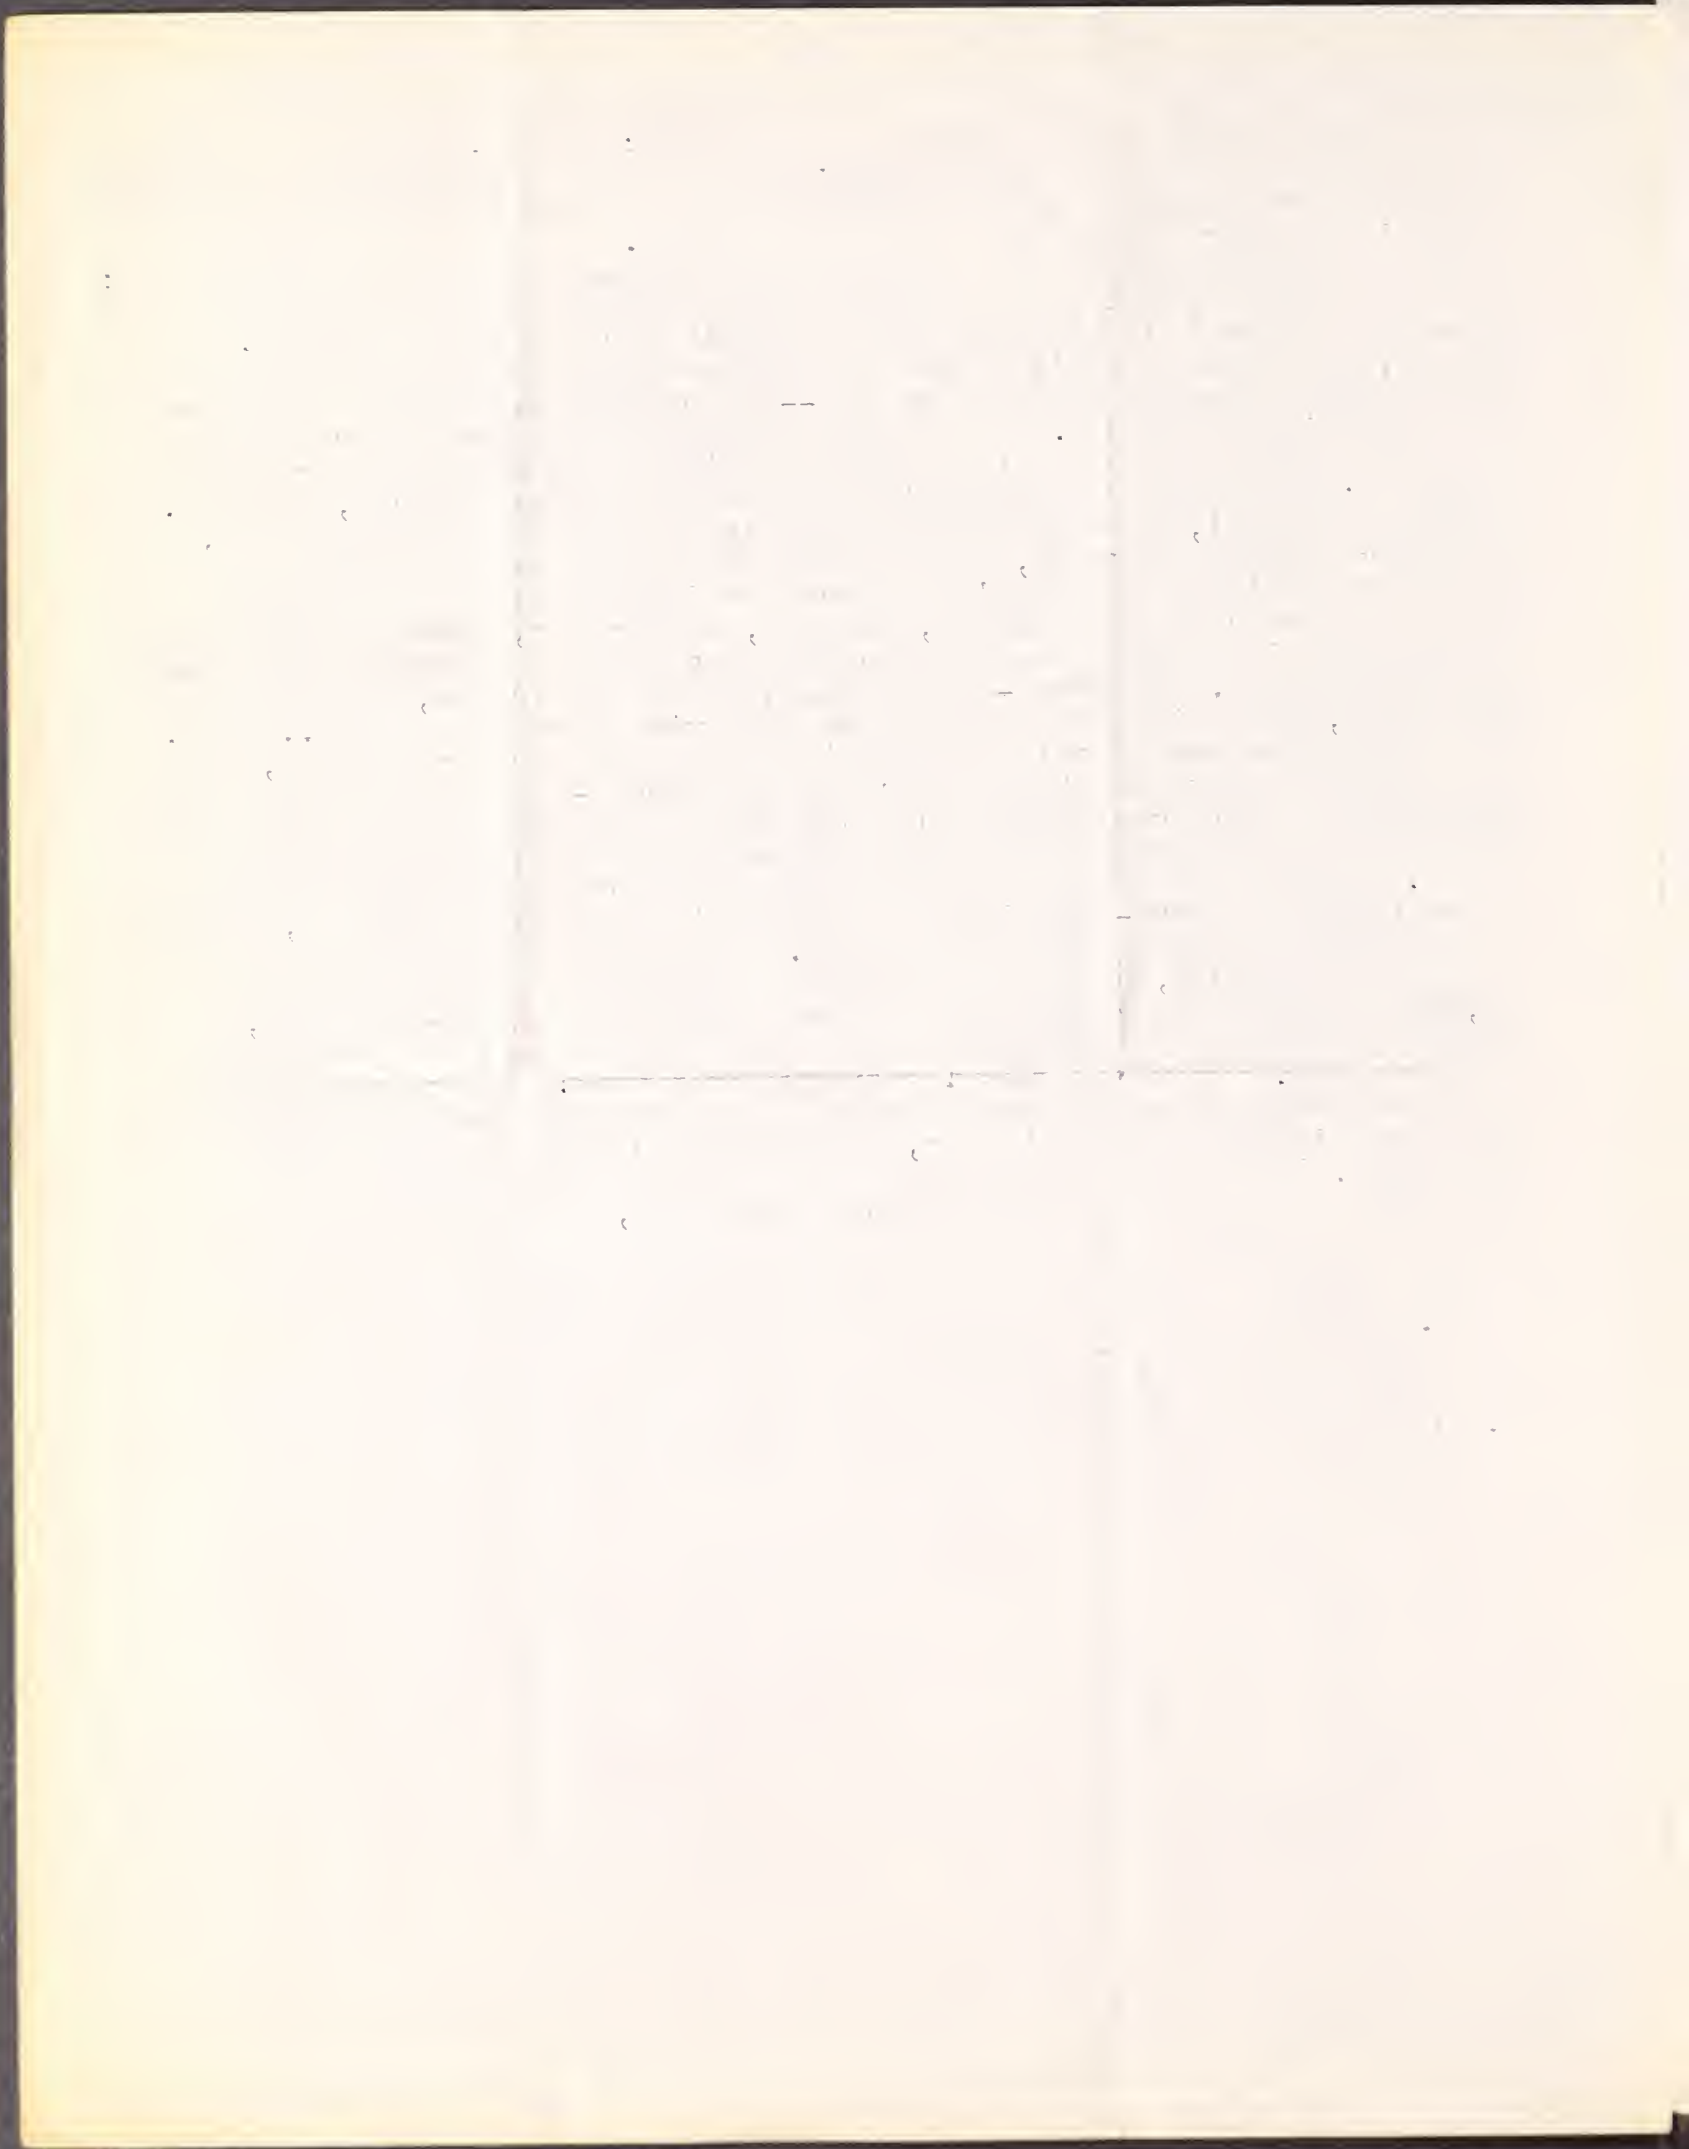

But they have been puzzling mysteries to me for three years now, and I must eventually meet them and understand them - or I shall have their descendants sadly considering me just another American writer going off half-cocked and muddling all conceptions of the Loyalist side of the issue. No doubt it should be the proper task of one of those descendants to write this story - and if such a story is already in process, I will be the first to offer congratulations.

Once more, thank you for your patience and generosity in writing me, and for the most interesting items about the Richards-Spencers, which will repose in my files until I can get that necessary information and proceed. My two heroes! John and Hazelton! Mayhap they rest a little better knowing your interest and integrity will prevent me from ever skipping over them lightly, for neither of them deserve such treatment.

Most sincerely,

Thina Nicol

P.S. And congratulations on your new granddaughter -

Dear Miss Nicol:

I am sorry to be so late in replying to your letter of 26th ult. There has been a steady stream of visitors and patients to my door this summer. You see, Bath and the Bay of Quinte are part of a summer playground, as well as place of pilgrimages for sentimental descendants of an heroic race. In addition, I have a new grand-daughter, Katherine Ryan, named for a fourth great grand-mother who came to this barren land with the first settlers. Moreover, I am besieged by persons seeking lost ancestors and fortunes.

I have just re-read your last letter, and I well understand most of your difficulties. I have also looked over your bibliography, and I must say that you have a great deal of material which should put you in the mood and the times of your plot. Unfortunately, so little of your material gives information on the Loyalist side, particularly from a Loyalist point of view. If you attempt to give the reactions of a Hazelton Spencer or of a Jean Richard, you will be very much in the dark.

Perhaps I am wrong in that last statement. At least I should admit that, as I am still in the dark as to you use of these two characters. If you intend to use them, then you must, with your present knowledge, do a great deal of presuming and imagining. I say this because you have NOT seen the Haldimand Papers, which are in the Archives in Ottawa, and have never been printed. In these will be found muster rolls, provision lists, correspondence between Headquarters and the officers commanding the various outposts, such as Niagara, Carleton Island, Oswego, Catararui, etc., detailed information regarding various raids and other activities, etc., etc., etc. For instance, it is known that both Spencer and Richards participated in certain expeditions into the Rebel country. In all these instances one can find there reports of these raids, with day by day activities, comments on different men, list of losses of men and equipment, places of encampment, Indian activities, etc. These papers also give data on the arrival of refugees, with date and place of origin, ages, birthplace, height, complexion, length of service, and many, many other interesting details. I repeat: you simply cannot give a factual story of these men without the information to be found in the Haldimand Papers.

With regard to the Wemps, or Wemples, I wish to say that there is NOT a genealogy of this family in toto. There is one dealing with the Canadian branch, but this is in error as to the parentage of Barnabas, our Canadian Wemp. I inquired in the State Library and was told that they did not have a Wemp genealogy. Jean Richards' wife is variously called Alice and Elsa, not Eliza. At the same time, you must not forget that Wyndert was a Wemp agnomen, and that there may have been a half dozen Wynderts living at the same time. For instance, the Canadian Wemp genealogy states that Barnabas (Barney) was born in 1738. A muster roll of Loyalists at Catararui give his age in Dec., 1783, as 24 years, 6 months, which would make him born in June, 1759. The genealogy does not state when he died. However, an old diary in my possession states that he died 25 Dec., 1843. If the genealogy is true, he was 105 at death. If this were true, the diarist would have added that fact. I also wish to state that there may have been more than one Alida Wemp.

I have, as I told Mr. Blodget, the opportunity to purchase a copy of ~~Sam~~ Cruikshank's "King's Royal Regiment of New York." The asking price is $5.00. This same man wrote "Butler's Rangers," but I have not been able to find one. "War Out of Niagara" is not too valuable, as it deals mainly with Walter Butler and his romancing. To me a great deal of it is purely fictional.

Last May I visited Albany and spent a few days in the State Library. At that time I scoured the Fort Hunter Church records, as well as the Trinity Church records having to do with the Mohawk Valley. I sent to Mr. Blodget what I found about the Wamps, Connors, McGraths, etc.

Practically all the truly Canadian books in your list add a little of general knowledge to your picture, but none of them deal with day to day activities of the most vital period, that of the Revolution. The information which I have sent from time to time is your most valuable asset.

Last Sunday I took my wife and visitors on a shore steak dinner to Long Point, in Prince Edward County. On the way home I stopped for a quick look in an old cemetery. There I found the gravestone of Hazelton Richards, brother of the Richards who wrote his reminiscences in 1875.

I have already said too much. But, as a parting note, I feel that you will never get anywhere with an authentic historical novel involving the Revolutionary War until you have seen the Haldimand Papers.

Yours sincerely,

H. C. Durlough.

Dear Mr. Burleigh;

Mr. Blodget has brought me your correspondence of July 21st, and I am greatly encouraged by your records and careful deductions.

Enclosed is as complete a list as I can make on what material I have researched. You will notice that many essential books were at hand only recently. In April, 1959, Mr. Blodget received five boxes of a variety of books left in storage, and only a few of them were concerned with the 1777 period. As I cannot now recall exactly which these were, I have simply included them in the listing.

The recent Connor-Wemp-Richards connection has posited further careful research on my part.....and this listing notes whatever I have been able to discover; all of it, you doubtless have had many years.

Possibly you now understand a few of the difficulties under which I have been writing. I am not writing Mr. Blodget's family history, nor am I writing a romance. I know he is compiling a record of his family, but I am doing no work whatsoever on that. That is an idea he has held for many years, and does not in the least interest me as a writer. The book which I am writing is an entirely separate matter, and to which, because of the use of his genealogical (sic) material and library, he is, by contract, entitled to receive 50% of subsequent royalties. Also, since he offered some subsidy during part of 1957 and some of 1958, he is by the same contract, entitled to reimbursement. I also have spent money in equal amount, time and energy on this project, and have throughout been in a disconcerting position as to my exact standing. I write you this simply that you also may understand how the material you are sending is to be used. My greatest difficulty has been to insist on factual material concerning the Richards-Spencer characters. The story will NOT be written on guess-work or 'maybe's'. ^{all} ~~The~~ plot, and characterizations will be entirely of my own work. ^{writing}

It would be so simple to drop it all and get on with my other writings; however, I am committed and, if I am allowed to work on factual material with no insistence of interposing situations or suggestions, I will turn out a book of which I am positive there can be no criticism either from biases of any sort, or falsifications.

Believe me, I am fighting for my integrity as a professional writer. Also to maintain I am writing something which was my idea... and writers have only ideas as their stock-in-trade of worldly value. Mr. Blodget is a most extraordinary person - who has not understood the magnitude of an historical novel, nor the need for absolute accuracy as far as possible. Nor the long tiresome hours spent pouring over poorly printed and unindexed books and records, especially under great financial stress. Probably I have said too much. If so, I apologize.

Sincerely,

Tim Neuf

Mr. Mr. Rush M. Blodget,
Laguna Beach,
Calif.

Dear sir:

I have just received your letter of 15th inst., in reply to my notes on the French origin of Jean Richard. I was somewhat dubious as to whether or not you would accept my version. However, I feel that it is the true one, and only lacks the year of birth of your Jean Richard to make it definitely authentic. This I have searched for, as I have said before, for many years. It simply must be found, and will, I feel, somewhere, particularly in the Maldimand Papers, which are records of the Revolutionary War from the British, or Loyalist, point of view. As you know, there are over 220 volumes of these papers, and a thorough search would require several days at Ottawa. There is no index of these volumes. In fact, the index might be larger than the original papers.

I still question your opinion that the Richards at the time of St. Bartholomew was a Protestant. The thing to remember is that Protestantism in 1572 was less than a century old, and then only confined to the ruling classes. While Henry VIII of England had disagreed with the Pope over marriage and divorce, the mass of the people were still of the Roman faith. The same applied to France. The French King at the time of St. Bartholomew was a Roman, and it was he that the first Richards was guarding, not Henry of Navarre, who was later to be King. And it was only natural that the King should be protected while the violent struggle and massacre was occurring during the nuptials. If the Richards was guarding the King, as well as saving him from the melee, it was a Roman Catholic King, not a Protestant. If Richards was a Protestant, he had an excellent opportunity to enhance the Protestant cause by killing the King, not protecting him. Be realistic, and do not let your desires to paint romance into the life of the first Richards, romance which, as far as I am concerned, does not exist. Let him be a Catholic in the days when the Christian world adhered to that faith. Let's hold to the truth, unless you wish to write a romance, not a family history.

You ask me to send you everything I may have on the activities of Jean Richard, yet you tell me, in previous letters, that you have reviewed ALL the books dealing with the Revolutionary period. I must know what you have available. Otherwise, I would be typing material for the next two weeks. Send me a list of the books in your library, dealing with this period, as well as those available in local libraries. Then I will know what to do about it. In the meantime, I am sending some notes, with explanations, which will give a little more color in the life of your MAN.

I feel like writing to Miss Ideol, but I want to hold off until I know what you and she have available. It is such a great pity that several thousand miles separate us, otherwise, the whole matter could be discussed freely, and a much clearer picture developed.

I keep thinking of the great necessity of reviewing the volumes of the Maldimand Papers dealing with the Indian Department and the post at Niagara. A careful review would solve the problem of Richards' activities during the period 1777-1787. These, of course, are in Ottawa, a distance of one hundred plus miles.

If you wish to have my opinions, let me hear from you.

Sincerely

Mr. Rush M. Blodget,

Bark Out

My dear Mr Burlingame:

I wish first to thank you for your very full record of the Spencer-Richard family, and for the pictures of the "remains" of the old cemetery and homestead.

I am proud of my Spencer line. Hazelton Spencer, U.E.L. was descended from a Deputy Governor of Rhode Island - and I have traced his earlier ancestors to the time of the Crusades. He was a member of the first Legislative Assembly of Upper Canada

With his father Benjamin Spencer, and his brothers Augustus, John and others, he moved from R.I. to Vermont. Judge Benjamin Spencer issued the warrant for the arrest of the outlaw Ethan Allen, and was subjected to great brutality by the Allen - Baker - Cochran band of thugs. They finally killed the Judge, and the sons, vowing eternal vengeance, fled to Canada and joined in the British Army.

Lt. Hazelton Spencer went with Sir John Johnson on his raid for the recovery of his papers, silver, and slaves, and for the recovery & rescue of the families of his American Tory soldiers. On the raid was a certain Lt. John Richards, interpreter in the Indian Dept. Among the rescued were Lt. Richard's children John Jr., Owen, Daniel, Margaret and Jeremiah. Lt. John Richards had had a farm at Fort Hunter. Lt. Hazelton Spencer married Margaret Richards.

(The name was usually written Richards but I have photostats of their claims for compensation, and they wrote the name Richard.)

I have never learned the name of the wife of ^{Lt.} John Richard Wf.
He spoke Mohawk; he was brunette;
his children and grandchildren were brunette; some had high cheek
bones and an Indian cast of features.
Query: Was the wife of Lt John -
the mother of Margaret - an Indian?
When John settled in Canada, he settled close to the Mohawk Settlement.

If I could locate a tombstone of John Sr, John Jr, Owen, Daniel, Margaret (Spencer) or Jemima (Church) the stone might show the birthplace - some obscure town in New England.

Owen married a Deana Spencer
John Jr married Jane Steward
Dan of John Steward Wf.

Lt in N. R. Reg. of N.Y.
Jemima married Oliver Church Wf.

I now know, thro' you, that the

I fail to locate the will of Owm Richards), or his grave stone.

Jermina may be buried in the "Church" plot - somewhere.

And where was John Lewis buried? Did he leave a will and mention a wife - or a birthplace?

Who were they? John wrote a beautiful hand - he must have been white. He spoke Mohawk - he must have been a trader, or must have had an Indian wife. Margaret's descendants are ^{often} olive skinned and dark eyed. My grandmother's

I had 14 ancestors on the Whig side. I had two on the Loyalist side. My study of the Revolution - careful study - endears me to my Tory ancestors. I feel that I wanted be no bad taste to make further comparisons, for the 14 were also my ancestors.

If in your travels, you should

Pesheewah (The Lynx) A Miami chief, better known on the frontier as John B. Richardsville; son of St Marys a Ind. near the present Ft Wayne about 1761. After the death of Little Turtle the chieftainship fell to Pesheewah. Inheriting noble French blood on his father's side, his abilities were such, it is said, as well adapted him to direct the affairs of the Miami. He spoke French & English fluently, as well as his native tongue; & for many years his house on the bank of St Marys r., about 4 m. from the Wayne, was known as the abode of hospitality. At the time of his death, Aug 13, 1841, Pesheewah was about 80 yrs of age & was regarded as the wealthiest Indian in N. A., his property, it is said, being valued at more than a million dollars. My dear Dr. Burleigh:

Your favor of 7/27/38 gladdens my heart. Your "weird" news quite intrigues me. By chance did you find John (Senior) to be an Indian? Or was he hung? Tell me the terrible truth. If it is too too terrible I will burn it. If it is merely wild I will cherish it. A bandit or two on my tree would enliven the branches.

Please Oh Please tell me the awful truth about the weird item. Family tradition has it that in the Spencer line we are "French & Indian".

The known facts are: that John Spore Indian & was an interpreter in the Indian Department of the Loyalist Army; that his daughter Margaret married ^{into} a blonde English family (Hazelton Spencer) and yet the descendants are predominantly brunet; that the grandson Hazelton Spencer was very brunet and had three brunet daughters; that in spite of blonde infusions, ^{lineation} 1/4 of every recent family is brunet (which accords with Mendel's law).

My genealogical Chart contains over 2000 names. All lines are complete except the Richard line and an Arnold line. So far, while I have romance 32

and Indian Killings and Scalpings;
battles and Dredgery and Hardship,
y^t I have no outstanding or shocking feature. My ancestors, I am unhappy to say, are on a dead
level of respectability.

The archivist at Ottawa some years ago made an exhaustive search for me, and sent to me photostats of various land petitions. One in particular contained the names of John Richards, Sr., John Jr, Daniel & Owen. Other biographical Excerpts also named Jermina and Margaret as daughters.

Their search covered John Senior only. I have thought for some time that the burial notice or gravestones of the father or sons would give the place or date of birth. I feel that one clue of that sort would be a fine lead.

I have copied the claim from the English Archives, imitating the signature of John. I cannot detect nationality in the handwriting.

One record of John Richard shows him in the Loyals way with his friend Augustine Spencer, (his brother-in-law)

Montreal Archives show a Paul Richard, b. 1734, son of ~~Charles~~ Richard who married ^{Nb} Mary Ann Dawen of London Anglature.

John Senior was born circa 1734. Could he have been a brother of the above Paul? If so he could easily have given his child, (Even though "Richard" is French)
the given name of "Owen" ^{or German}.

There is a fragment in the Ottawa Archives, being a part of a petition of Margaret Richard (Spencer).
My photostat reads as follows

"of the said order being the daughter of John Richards Indian M. E. father in Interpreter and there being no default etc."
The words "father in" were partly, as I might say, imperfectly, erased, and came out plainly in the photostat. Did the Scrivenor mean "John Richards, Indian?" or "John Richards, ^{Indian} Interpreter?" Was the Scrivenor confused?

My "Markers of Canada" in one place says there were only 25 or 35

"interpreters" and that they settled on the Bay of Plenty near the Mohawks. Is that where John Sr. settled? Was it because his wife was an Indian?

In running down the Cons, I tried Owen. I found that a certain Owen Richards had become a Captain. All efforts to find his will have failed. There is a certain Owen Richards buried in Toronto. He was born about 1758. The Seaton writes that he was born on Prince Edward Island. He did not quote from his records, and I judged he was guessing, for there was no white settlement as early as that on Prince Edward.

If John Senior was Canadian French, how did he come to settle at Fort Hunter - an English army post among the Mohawks on Mohawk River? What was a Frenchman doing down in New York State? If a Captain in the English Army, how did he come to have a farm? The land records ^{at Dryden} do not disclose any title in his name. His witnesses - the Bowens, father & son, were well known Tories, 29 and friends of Mr Wm Johnson & Mr John. Owen McGuire was probably one of Mr Wm's famous Scotch-Irish retainers. But Peter Fikes and his son (?) Joseph Peters, were not Scotch - they must have been Welsh or Dutch.

Pardon this long effusion. I am enclosing a copy of the picture of my grandmother Esther Ann Spencer.
I have many copies and you need not return it. It seems to show traces of Indian blood - or am I mistaken. =

I await your next letter
with the impatience known only to Genealogists in that hour
of a last endeavor.

Cordially
